From the Eastern Kentucky Border.

The Cincinnati Enquirer of yesterday has the following information in relation to the war in the extreme Eastern border of Kentucky. Lindsey is Colonel of the 22d Kentucky Regiment, though Garfield, as the Enquirer says, may have been appointed to the command of this expedition as acting

Brigadier General.

General Humphrey Marshall, at the head of 6,000 troops, has arrived at Preston-burg, and is fortifying the town against any attack. It is reported that Marshall will remain at his present stand-point, and after throwing up redoubts and placing therein batteries, will then march toward Mayville and the Ohio river. He expects reinforcements to the number of ten thousand men immediately, which will swell his command to nearly seventeen thousand troops. Gen. Marshall has ordered Colonel Garfield, of the 22d Kentucky, to take command of the brigade now at George Creek and distributed along Big Sandy river to Louis, and constituting five full regiments of infantry, a squadron of cavalry, and two batteries of artillery, and move the brigade forward to meet Marshall, with all possible dispatch. Col. Garfield telegraphed yesterday for transportation, supplies, etc., all of which was sent to him last evening. He will advance on Sunday or Monday, and, as his force is reinforced with new troops, the probabilities are favorable for an immediate battle between these two armies. It is declared that Marshall will not retreat, but being in good condition for a fight, will yield until after a desperate struggle, when he will retreat to a safe position.

It is expected that the war in Eastern Kentucky may be expected during the coming week.

THE SUPPLY OF ARMS FROM EUROPE.

Thurloe Weed, in a letter to the Albany

Evening Journal, dated Paris, Nov. 29, says:

In one most essential element of war we shall soon be relieved. The fact that the South intended war long before we supposed it possible, and not only rifled Northern armies, but procured large supplies of arms from Europe, left us to open the campaign at great disadvantage. This disad-vantage has been delayed and exposed to the eyes of the world, and the inferior arms have become a source of disgrace to our arms. Mr. George L.

Schuyler, the Government agent, has completed his mission. He has obtained from the Government arms in Austria and Germany over one hundred thousand rifles, equal to any in the world. These arms are now on their way to America.

Mr. Schuyler, though for a long time embarrassed and thwarted, and all the while encountering rivalries and complications, finally overcame them all, and goes home rewarded for his efficiency and fidelity by complete success.

The knowledge that our Government needed arms has sharpened the cupidity and wit of all who desire them. The armories of Europe are at work now night and day, in patching up old muskets, and in counterfeiting new ones, in the hope of palming them upon our Government.

Europe abounds with inferior, discarded muskets; while new and reliable arms in hand are finally overthrown by the Government arms, and that, of course, with great difficulty.

FINALE OF THE AFFAIR AT WARSAW, KY.

The Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday gives the following report from the 20th Ohio Regiment, part of which went to Warsaw to settle the difficulty, of which we have already given the particulars:

The steamboat Major Anderson, which arrived here yesterday from Louisville, had on board four prisoners from Warsaw, in charge of Governor Marshall, and on the 20th inst. they were taken to the Twentieth Ohio, under command of Adjutant Owens. Their names are:

John J. Marshall, son of the late John Humphrey; Lorenzo Graves, Judge of the

A TRAITOR AND FORGER.—Eugene Longue mare, formerly known as the editor and proprietor of the St. Louis Democrat, who was suddenly deposed last year, after perpetrating forgeries to an amount estimated at upward of $80,000, was brought to that city a day or two since and lodged in the county jail, having been arrested in Hagerstown, Maryland. The St. Louis News says:

Eugene Longue-mare is quite a young man, apparently not over five and twenty years of age. He is of an old and respectable family, and until he became involved in the dark cloud which at present envelopes his name, he stood fair in the community, numbering hosts of sincere and influential friends, and giving promise of a useful and brilliant future.

The Paris Temps publishes the following extraordinary statement: "Much has been said for the last two days of a drama, of which an aristocratic religious boarding school in the Faubourg St. Germain, of the 22d century, was the scene, when one struck the other in the face and knocked out one of his eyes. Her family were immediately apprised of the accident.

The father came to the school, and seeing his daughter, he asked to see the young lady who struck her. She came, when he drew a pistol from under his cloak and fired into her face. The unfortunate girl is so dreadfully wounded that if she recovers she will be disfigured for life."

—About a month ago Capt. James Ambrose, a wealthy citizen of St. Clair county, Illinois, opposite St. Louis, disappeared, and it was feared that he had been murdered. On Christmas day his body was found buried near a charcoal pit, in the vicinity of the residence of his nephew, James Curry. The deceased had been shot in the abdomen, and his skull was crushed in places. Curry was arrested on suspicion of being the murderer. Curry had been living with his uncle, but had of late dissented with him. On being arrested he confessed that he had killed Mr. Ambrose, but alleged that the deed had been committed in self defense.

—A correspondent in yesterday's Journal, writing from Camp Hamilton, near Fortress Monroe, under date of December 20, 1861, states that an attack had been made upon our men by armed negroes.

Seven hundred of these Africans, he says, are in the field in that vicinity, ready to do bloody execution upon the soldiers of the Union. This is outrageous, and, as the days of the revolution, in a new feature in the war. Let these negroes be captured at all hazards, and immediately emancipated and degraded to an equality with the corresponding of the Journal.

degree for poisoning Rhoda M. Williams.

A YANKEE TRICK - Captain Reed - A...

New London, Feb. 13.—Captain Keble, of the U. S. S. Albatross, gives rather an amusing incident. While in pursuit of the steamer that eventually escaped, two schooners bore in sight. One was a small thing, laden with cordwood, and he paid no attention to it. The larger one, supposing from this that the steamer was a Confederate, quietly pursued her course, until very suddenly brought up all standing by a gun from the New London. When the latter ran alongside, the rebel Captain was very prolific with curses, and declared "it was for so much the losing of his schooner, but it was the durned mean Yankee trick that had been come on him, in letting the other schooner pass by." The one captured was laden with turpentine, and doubtless intended to have run the blockade.—Letter from the Gulf.

ANOTHER STRATEGIC COIL.—CYTUS W. Field, of Atlantic Telegraph fame, has addressed a letter to Gen. McClellan, recommending the laying of a submarine telegraphic cable around the Southern coast, to connect our forts and military stations on the coast.

Gen. McClellan fully concurs, and earnestly urges that the plan be adopted by the Government, and that Mr. Field be authorized to have it carried into execution.

RETIRED.—Mr. Cummings, it is stated, has dissolved his connection with the N. Y. World, and is about to visit Europe to improve his impaired health—and we rather think his damaged reputation also. There can be no doubt from the evidence given before the investigating committee, that the latter needs rejuvenating, and that his connection with the expenditures of the Government affords him means to try the experiment of an European tour.

Heved, however, to a certain extent, by the assurance that "Horse is well."

DEAR OLD MONSTER—Little Sing is very unhappy. Horse is well.

A WAGGISH CAPTAIN.—The Captain of the American ship Montgomery, which was overhauled by the Sampter, ransomed his vessel by giving a bond for $20,000, "payable to the President of the Southern Confederacy, thirty days after peace is declared." It reminds us of the traveler, stopped by a highwayman, who told the thief he had no money, but would give him

CHEAP LIVING.—The Muscatine Journal gives the following price list of provisions in that city: Tenderloins, four cents; sausage meat, three cents; shoulders, three cents; ribs, with meat on, three cents.

1209 Some one speaks of November and December as being rightly named, since they are indeed the embers of the dying year.

1210 The rebels talk of widening Cumberland Gap so that Humphrey Marshall can conveniently get through it.
